City Council Decides On New Approach In Plans For Fort Ord Annexation

At its last meeting, the Seaside City Council decided to proceed with plans to annex more of Fort Ord. However, the council decided the action will take a new approach.

Under the new plan, City Manager Dudley Lapham was directed to prepare a report explaining what benefits Seaside would give to the residents of Fort Ord in return for the revenue the city would receive from the state.

The report will be submitted to the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) with a new application for annexation. Lapham estimates that it will take about six weeks to compile the "annexation benefit research package."

The study, according to Lapham, will include the following five points:

1. Planning: take a look at the area and its relationship to the city in regard to such factors as land use, public safety, sewage control and watershed control.

2. Sociological: the relationship between the military population of Fort Ord and the civilian population of Seaside.

3. Historical: take a look at the relationships already part of a city.

4. Economic: the revenue to be derived by the city from allocation of state tax revenues on a population basis.

5. LAFCO: the study now being conducted by the commission on the spheres of influence of the various cities in the vicinity of Fort Ord.

The new application would be for an as yet undetermined area of the base, but would include the heavily populated northwest section, which is worth about $288,000 in state subsidies.

Last July, Seaside submitted an application to annex the same area of Fort Ord. However, it withdrew its application in deference to Marina. At that time, Edwin McCauley, LAFCO's executive officer, recommended denial of the application pending completion of the spheres of influence study. Seaside withdrew the application, though, before the commission could act on the recommendation.

In other action, the Council approved rezoning to enable the Young Adults For Action to operate a light manufacturing business. An urgency clause was attached to the order to allow the change to take place immediately instead of having to wait for 60 days.

The city staff was directed to proceed with the Christmas decorations plan. This will include three large trees at the entrances to the city, a large lighted star at the water towers above Mescal Street and decorations of the two 75-foot pylons in the Monterey Peninsula Auto Center. This new plan will replace the usual decoration of streets in the business area.

A list of names of two small parks in the Hamon Redevelopment Area was referred to the parks and recreation commission.

The council approved an agreement with MPUSD to provide for continued joint operation of a recreational program at schools in the city.

The council also named Hal M. Winner, 53-year-old retired naval officer to the Redevelopment Agency. He will complete the term of Rev. J. Lee Mildon, which expires July 5, 1973.

Scholarship Deadline

The California State Scholarship and Loan Commission reminds high school seniors and college students that the postmark deadline date for the filing of California State Scholarship applications is November 20, 1972.

Last July, Seaside submitted an application to annex the same area of Fort Ord. However, it withdrew its application in deference to Marina. At that time, Edwin McCauley, LAFCO's executive officer, recommended

The worst DOES sometimes happen. As men, we have to count on that possibility, have to arm ourselves against it and, above all, we have to realize that since absurdities necessarily occur, and nowadays manifest themselves with more and more forcefulness, we can prevent ourselves from being destroyed by them and can make ourselves relatively comfortable upon this earth only if we humbly include these absurdities in our thinking reckon with the inevitable fractures and distortions of human reason when it attempts honestly to deal with reality -- The Pledge.

It was with deeper regret than imaginable that I learned of the mishap between Brady Avery and his son-in-law. If we could "turn back the hands of time" things might end differently. Unfortunately, this is not possible.

Brady Avery made an indelible mark on this Monterey peninsula. More than once he confronted city officials with personal injustices, not just upon his person, but upon the person of others. He never emitted his grievances in a soft tone, or with thought of "secret conferences." Avery would loudly proclaim his disapproval, regardless of the foot he stepped on. In doing this, Brady Avery created a sort of dislike between himself and others in authority. He worked overtime watching them, and they worked overtime watching him. There was always that invisible line separating the two forces.

An authorized person never wants to be called down by a layman. And a layman never wants to be contradicted by a person in authority when he, the layman, knows he is right. So that

McDonald's Veterans' Day Ball Treats Are Big Success

Over 320,000 Bay Area youngsters returned home from Halloween trick-or-treating with at least one "goodie" concerned parents did not have to inspect for hidden razor blades, pins or dangerous drugs.

The harmless treats are McDonald's Halloween gift certificates, a new idea developed to provide parents with a little peace of mind and children with free soft drinks.

Almost 280,000 certificates were distributed through McDonald's Bay Area restaurants. An additional 42,000 were donated to charity-oriented haunted houses to help boost their business, and in turn, contributions to the various worthy causes.

A survey of McDonald's operators and managers shows they are extremely pleased with the acceptance of the certificates as a "peace of mind builder"....but hope they are not all redeemed the same day!

Veterans' Day Ball

The Retired Men's Social Club is sponsoring a "Veterans' Day Ball" to raise funds for both their Teen Summer Employment program and holiday treats for needy families on the Monterey Peninsula.

The club, consisting of approximately 42 retired men and women, is labeling the ball as the "biggest event of the year," and encouraging the entire Peninsula population to join with them in making it a grand affair.

The ball will be held in the Exhibit Hall, Monterey County Fairgrounds, Saturday, November 11 (traditionally Veterans' Day), from 9 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. There will be free food and setups for every one, and each person may bring his own favorite cheers.

Tickets are available from any of the club members or may be picked up at Steve's BBQ INN, 1667 Del Monte Boulevard, Seaside. Donations are $3.50 in advance and $4 at the door. This includes the free food and setups.

For additional information, call 394-3582.

The Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services will hold their annual Super Sale on November 15 at the Monterey County Fairgrounds.

The sale will begin at 10 a.m. and continue until 4 p.m. A $1 donation is asked.

Brady Avery Is Dead

Brady Avery local political and civil rights activist, died last Sunday as a result of gun wounds suffered in an argument with his son-in-law on Wednesday, November 1, 1972.

Theodore Buffington, 20, Avery's son-in-law, has been charged with murder, according to Deputy District Attorney Jerrold Mitchell. Arraignment will be held this afternoon at 1:30 p.m.

The shooting occurred at Buffington's home. After Avery slapped Buffington, he left for his car. However, according to police, the son-in-law got a shotgun, went outside and fired at Avery, wounding him in the stomach and arm.

The 44-year-old Little Rock Arkansas native's wife, Shelli and daughter, Debra Buffington, 17 were both present at the time of the shooting.

A peninsula resident for the past 23 years, Avery has had a controversial life. Just last year, he and his business partner, Melvin Williams, won $42,000 in damages after their highly publicized racial bias trial against six present and former Sand City officials. The partners contended that Sand City did not want them in business there because they were black.

However, two weeks ago, U.S. District Judge Robert Peckham issued a memorandum saying that he intended to grant a motion filed by the Sand City officials for a new trial.

Very politically active, Avery was a member of the Third World Movement, the Black Liberation Movement and the Peace and Freedom Party.

Friends may visit the body today (Wednesday) from 2 p.m. until 9 p.m. at Seaside Mortuary Services will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. Burial will follow at Mission Memorial Park.

ARMY RECRUITER

Hello everybody. TODAY'S ARMY is advancing so rapidly it gives me something different to talk about every week. We now have "SUPERDOG." Superdogs are a superior breed of German Shepherds being trained by the Army to run through dark tunnels, swim rapid-current streams, parachute from aircraft, sniff out cordite, detect an enemy in the jungle and stand up to heavy fire in a combat situation. The only thing they can't do is leap tall buildings in a single bound. They are presently being developed and trained at the Army's Edgewood Arsenal near Baltimore. When the pups reach eight weeks, they begin a rigorous training phase which runs from basic commands to maneuvers in combat situations. After advanced training when to hunt, prove and climb over a various assortment of obstacles, they are assigned to various government agencies, the Army and the Air Force for patrol duties.

Speaking of superdogs, did you know that TODAY'S ARMY actually has job opening for dog trainers? It's one of over 300 different jobs in countless areas which TODAY'S ARMY hopes to fill with young high school graduates. Trainers perform a variety of educational and training functions involving dogs. Every aspect of dog training in every conceivable situation is their responsibility. They must also know the causes and prevention of communicable and noncommunicable diseases, how to apply first aid and administer medicines and a countless assortment of duties unknown to the ordinary pet owner.

Fifteen young men and one young woman began their careers in TODAY'S ARMY last month. From Seaside, they are: Benjamin Ampom Jr., who reenlisted for The Army Security Agency option. Benjamin resided at 1137 Buena St; Melanio De Guzman, 1670-C-Broadway, who enlisted for the $1500 Combat Arms Bonus Hawaii Enlistment option; Charles E. Scott, 540-Waring St., also took advantage of the $1500 Combat Arms Bonus but he chose Panama as his place to work; Edward L. Bates, 1966 Yosemite, enlisted for our Petroleum Storage Specialist in Hawaii. Thomas W. Moore, enlisted for the Combat Arms Bonus Hawaii Option also. Thomas RESIDED AT 1044-Hilby.

From Pacific Grove were: Keith B. Wiley, 312 1/2 17th St., who enlisted for 82d Airborne Combat Arms Bonus Option; Rex H. Matney, 17 Mile Dr. Rex enlisted for Pay/Disbursing Specialist at Ft. Hood, Texas.

From Carmel was Richard B. Wright, 3405 Trevis Way, who will be attending the Language School in Presidio of Monterey.

Representing Fort Ord were: Gilbert J. Torres, 609-Malmedy Rd., who enlisted for Teletype-writer Repairman; Carmelo Ortiz Jr., 103 Nittmegen Rd. Carmelo enlisted for the Combat Arms Bonus 82nd Airborne Option; Edward Figuira, 505 Hayes Cir., also received the $1500 Bonus. He chose Hawaii as the place he wanted to spend it.

From Marina were: Robert Kushner, 226 Carmel Ave. Robert enlisted for Fixed Ciphony Repair, Strategic Communication Command; Allen Renken, 3008 Max Cir., enlisted for Accounting Specialist School; Edward C. Montanaro, 490 Ferris Cir., chose CDEC Fort Ord, which will guarantee him 16 months at Fort Ord; Allen R. Bowen, who was visiting friends in Seaside, reenlisted for 9th Div. at Ft. Lewis, Washington.

And last but not least is a beautiful young woman named Victoria F. Hunt. Victoria resided at 540-Sonoma Ave. Seaside. She enlisted for our Medical Field with her training at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington, DC.

TO MARRY - Colonel and Mrs. A.J. Sabel of fort Ord have announced engagement of their daughter, Claudia, to Don J. Carnegie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Carnegie of Bridgeton, New Jersey. VA Hires Many Vets

Nearly 17,000 Vietnam Era veterans have been hired by the Veterans Administration to work in its hospitals, regional offices and assistance centers. In the previous year, the VA had only 7,600 Vietnam Era veterans on its employment rolls.

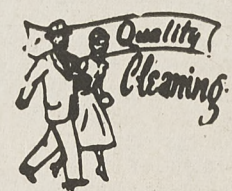

In making the report, J.E. Mullen, Director of the San Francisco VA Regional Office, noted that 166 Vietnam Era veterans presently are working at the San Francisco Regional Office, compared to 82 last year.

Many of the young veterans are being hired for duty in VA assistance units where recently discharged veterans ordinarily would first contact the VA. As of August 1, 1972, about 39 percent of these employees in the SF office were Vietnam Era veterans, as compared to 14 percent a year earlier. As vacancies occur in these units, emphasis is being given to the hiring of young ex-servicemen and women.

The VA is also on the lookout for young veterans with special skills in medical or para-medical fields. They are being hired for duty in hospitals and clinics.

If you can't get unleaded gasoline at your station ...switch to ours. Chevron Unleaded for cleaner air and top performance.

Maybe your usual station doesn't sell unleaded gasoline anymore.

Or your car can use it, but you haven't tried it yet.

Or you've gotten a brand new car whose engine is designed to use unleaded.

Whichever the case, we hope you'll join the steadily increasing number of motorists who are switching to Chevron Unleaded Gasoline.

And for the same reasons...

Because you want to help keep lead out of the air.

Because you want a gasoline that meets all of the high performance standards American car owners are accustomed to. If you have a car that can use it, that's the kind of performance you get from Chevron Unleaded with F-310.*

And because the thousands of Chevron Dealers and Standard Stations that carry unleaded are available everywhere.

Chevron Unleaded is blended to give you power to accelerate onto a freeway, or to pass another car when necessary.

Chevron Unleaded helps reduce corrosive engine wear, so your engine will last longer. And gives you less spark plug fouling. And longer life to your exhaust pipe and muffler.

Chevron Unleaded with F-310 helps keep more than lead out of the air. It helps reduce unburned hydrocarbon emissions and carbon monoxide too, by removing deposits from critical parts of dirty engines; and by keeping clean engines clean.

As evidence of its performance, our TV commercials show top racing drivers such as Mario Andretti and Joe Leonard testing Chevron Unleaded in typical passenger cars that can use it. And praising the power and acceleration it gives them.

But not everyone can switch to unleaded. That's why we make a low lead gasoline, too.

If your car can't use unleaded, but can use "regular" gasoline, you can still help keep lead emissions down by using Chevron Low Lead. And you'll get all the performance anyone could ask for.

But the more lead you take out of gasoline, the more lead you take out of the air. So if your car can use it, use unleaded.

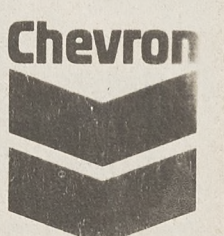

And our unleaded... Chevron Unleaded Gasoline... is available at more stations than any competitor's in the West.

Available only...

is how it was with Brady Avery. There are many people who are telling me that Avery had plenty of money. They read in the papers and heard over the radio many times that Brady Avery was awarded something like $42,000 by a San Jose Judge. This was as a result of a civil suit brought on by Avery and his business partner against the Mayor of Sand City, the City Council, the Chief of Police, and/or a few other people. This was played up on the radio broadcasts heard by announcers who were keeping the public informed on Brady's condition while he was hospitalized. It is interesting to note that no one mentioned that the same judge who awarded Avery the $42,000 REVERSED his decision without a hearing in the presence of Brady Avery.

Of course if Brady went to San Jose and started calling down the authorized person (Brady being a layman), he would be categorized as a trouble maker.

the worst DOES sometimes happen. As men we have to count on that possibility. I have discovered one thing that holds true to all I believe in: Basically people are wonderful. There was a false report that hit the news last Wednesday that Mr. Avery had succumbed to his injuries. A spokesman at the Monterey Hospital said the switchboard was flooded with calls trying to verify if it was a true release. Fortunately, it was false. But people ARE concerned about other people. They fail to outwardly show their concern, but within their heart's there is love. Monday morning I was awoken with the news of Mr. Avery's death. This time unfortunately, it was true.

Most ill-feeling that people have towards other people is derived through gossip. Humans are prone to believe the worst in anyone, even if there is a doubt that it is true.

There was a man from Beirut who said "Those people who gossip are like the deserted caves of the valleys that throw back voices in echo without understanding their meaning; they know not of God's sacred law in His creatures; neither are they aware of the true faith. They know not when a man is guilty and when he is not, but rather do they look only at outward things, their weak sighted eyes not seeing what is concealed."

I believe in Love. I believe that people who love are happy people. And it is impossible to be happy without love. You cannot force love, it has to come naturally. Also you cannot fight it when it does come. This man from Beirut once elaborated on this by saying, "Love cannot be resisted - once perceived, it will stay with you the rest of this life and, after death, the hand of God shall unite it." "Love," he concluded, "is a precious treasure, God's gift sent to sensitive and great spirits."

As I conclude this column, this Election Week, I shall pass on Andy's wishes that you voted with your heart; that you voted with the consciousness within yourself. He hopes no one "swayed" your thinking between right or wrong; that you studied and understood the ballot and voted according to how you felt. And we all hope and believe that the tempers that flared up between friend and friend will cool as time goes on and remember that no one knows what you did when you were alone in that booth. Support the candidate of your choice, but if by chance he did not make it, support the winner at all cost.

This is your country and the place you have to live in. Let's all hold hands and form a circle that can not be broken by petty differences of opinion. There would be no novelty in life if everything and everyone was the same. And wouldn't it be exceedingly boring if we all thought exactly alike?

Hang in there, it's easy to love. It's the adjusting to hate that's hard.

A great deal has been written and said about TRANSPORTATION recently in connection with the MONTEREY PENINSULA BUS PROBLEM....much more will no doubt be written and said before a solution is reached.

THE JOINT POWERS AGENCY made up of representatives of the Peninsula Cities are working against a very critical time schedule in an effort to form a COUNTY TRANSIT SERVICE AREA in a manner which would be acceptable to the State and Federal Governments as an agency to receive funds from gas taxes to SUPPORT A PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM.

One of the problems is the requirement that all Cities, including Salinas, must officially approve the boundaries of the proposed Service Area before the Board of Supervisors can set the necessary public hearing on the matter. The situation is further complicated by Proposition 14 which will possibly affect the revenue of Cities and alter their budgets. If the time schedule does not work out for the Service Area it will be necessary for all of us to consider other methods of financing to improve our badly needed bus system.

As I See It

BY MEL VERCOE

Christopher Columbus was lucky. It took him seven years to convince his financial backers that there might be profit in trying to get to India by going west, but at least the Indians were friendly when he got to what he thought must be some offshoot of the Asian continent. Today, the Indians probably would not be friendly, knowing what they now know about the white man, and some of them are showing their resentment by invading and holding an Indian affairs headquarters building in Washington, D.C.

They don't have a chance. There are well over two hundred million whites (mostly imports from European countries over a three hundred year period) in the U.S. There are only a half million Indians, and we have learned from our recent experience in Asia that it takes a population of about sixteen million natives to achieve a military stalemate with our federal government forces.

Probably it would be a giant step forward for some bright young politician to get a really viable third political party started. It could be called something like the "Let's Keep It Simple" Party, and would be dedicated to simplifying government and issues rather than complicating everything as at present.

Can you imagine what it would be like to be able to vote on an issue that was clearly defined? Or for a candidate who you knew meant exactly what he said? Of course not. If such a condition ever existed, it must have been at least a hundred years ago, because I don't remember reading about it.

We are asked to vote on measures affecting our environment, yet even expert analysts give up on whether the wording makes sense.

If only ten percent of the money being spent on clouding the major issues was spent on clearly defining the issues, we might even get back to having a republic with democratic representation, but there would be utter and complete chaos in the American political scene, to say nothing of what would happen to millions of jobs if overburdened taxpayers ever found out the truth about the arms race, our oil procurement problems in the Middle East, the deception involved in using patriotism to justify our Asian involvement, the real reason for allowing interest rates to increase to usurious levels, etc.

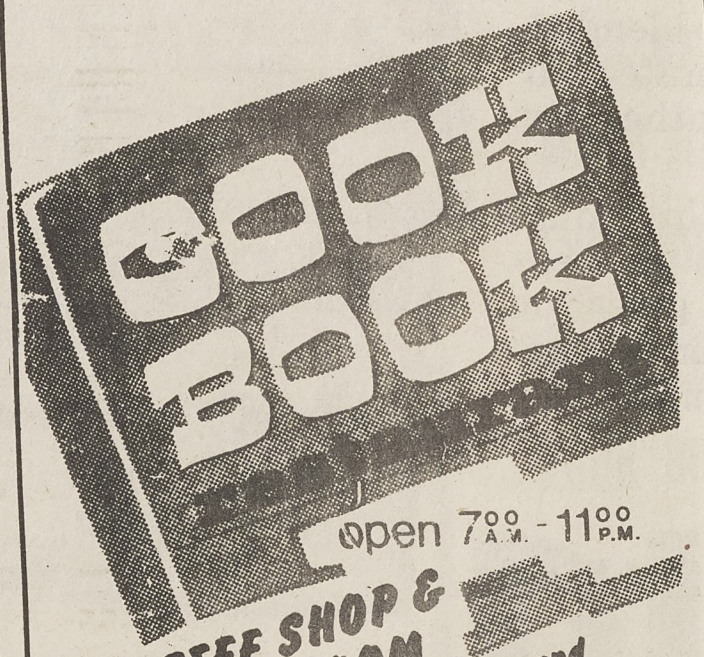

No, maybe we had better stick to the old system. A nation that can't handle a simple thing like stopping alcohol from killing 30,000 people per year on our highways surely is not ready to face such a drastic thing as adjusting to truth in politics.

SEASIDE COUNTY SANITATION DISTRICT

The cities of Monterey and Pacific Grove, with Seaside County Sanitation District, have formed the Monterey Peninsula Water Pollution Control Agency. This Agency was formed on an interim basis to develop engineering and financing plans for a regional sewerage system for the cities of Monterey, Pacific Grove, Seaside, Sand City and Del Rey Oaks. It will also serve Fort Ord, and it may serve Marina. The consulting engineers have recommended $23.5 million in sewerage improvements. This includes $11.9 million for Stage A construction in 1973 and 1974, and the balance for Stage B construction in 1974 and 1975. Stage A will combine sewage flows from Pacific Grove and Monterey for treatment in a modified plant at Monterey and will intercept treated effluents from all entities for discharge through a new outfall near Point Pinos in Pacific Grove. Stage B will provide a new regional treatment facility to replace the treatment plants in Monterey and Seaside County Sanitation District.

On September 6, 1972, the Seaside County Sanitation District issued $800,000 general obligation sewer bonds, to partially cover our District share of Stage A and Stage B construction costs - which is projected to be $1,112,000. This means that the Seaside County Sanitation District will have to develop a financing plan to raise an additional $312,000 to cover the Stage A and Stage B costs.

However, there is yet another proposal under consideration which entails total reclamation of all water - somewhere inland - and a possible elimination of the ocean outfall. This proposal could substantially change the nature of the existing plans and will probably cause an ever escalating increase in monies to be raised by the Seaside County Sanitation District!

Unfortunately the end result will be an increase in Seaside County Sanitation District taxes which are currently being assessed at 57 cents a hundred. The taxpayers of Del Rey Oaks, Sand City and Seaside should keep themselves informed regarding this important project.

Letter to the Editor

Editor: I read a news account that two groups oppose public transit in our County. Since most residents of our area may never have heard of them - they are modest to an extreme - permit me to give them a bit of publicity. They are Del Monte Properties Co. and Del Monte Forest Home Owners Association. I wonder if they will try a brief experiment? Will those associated with the two organizations give their cars a rest? Will they get the dreary experience of doing without their accustomed transportation for a month or two and tell us how they love the experience?

By thus putting themselves in the shoes of others - those who have no cars at all and those who have to do without them much of the time - they will obtain an insight they now utterly lack. Let them see how many poor people, how many elderly, how many who for whatever reason do not drive a car, make out. The terrible difficulty they have to shop, to see a doctor, to visit friends, to go to cultural and recreational events.

If there are funds to be had from Federal or State sources to substantially help, counties interested in public transportation, why should anyone concerned with his fellow Americans come out in opposition?

Can it be that some are unaware of the primitive streak we all inherited - from way back when, specifically from a jungle evolution - of selfishness, of me, me, and, again, me, to heck with those who haven't got what I got?

Undoubtedly such opponents to providing public transportation for their brothers and sisters of our county - their fellowmen - consider themselves good Americans. Why don't they give a lifting hand to those fellow Americans who are so in distress and clamor for such transportation?

Nadine Cotelo

Nadine Cotelo, a native of the state of Washington, was born in Seattle, and grew up in Wenatchee where she graduated from Wenatchee High School. She then attended college at Pomona College in Claremont, California. Being somewhat of a world traveler, Nadine returned to her home state for a brief time. She left there and traveled to Alaska where she met and married her husband. She continued her travels into Canada and spent 2 1/2 years on the Ontario Police Department as a Policewoman.

Traveling once again, Nadine moved to the Monterey Peninsula in 1957. Having worked for a police department in Ontario, she liked being a policewoman, so she joined the Seaside Police Department. Her first position with our department was that of a records clerk. Eventually she became the Chief's secretary and has worked in that capacity under three different chiefs.

Nadine and her family lived a short while in Monterey at the time she first arrived on the Monterey Peninsula. She then located her family in Pacific Grove where she is still a resident. Liking the Monterey Peninsula so much, she has not had the desire to travel.

Nadine states that it has been a pleasure to have worked with the chiefs and the men of the Seaside Police Department, and will be sorry when the time comes to leave them.

Hope in an Age of Despair

In our living room, hanging on a wall is a tapestry rug which spells out the word: HOPE. We have this word on other posters and things in the house. It is a small word, but full of meaning.

You are reading this column after the election. I, however, am writing it before the election. But I can pretty much guess what most of the results will be (are). In the minds of many, including my own, the one hope for a new direction in America suffered a major defeat at the polls this year. I see four more years of the present administration as four more years toward 1984 and a total police state controlled by the CIA and the Pentagon. Those who may agree with me; the youth, the third world peoples and all other disenfranchised may see little hope for the electoral process and for the continuance of democracy. I have good reason to believe that these things are already dead. We are seeing in our country (for those who have eyes to see) the emergence of a real terrifying Big Brother who will listen in on our telephone lines, and bug our flower pots; who will further destroy the freedom of the press, and continue to gobble up the world.

Looking at this we may see clearly that there are no more things that can give us hope for the future of America. This day may very well be the beginning of the end of the once free world.

After youth and others stopped demonstrating and decided to work through the electoral process, the electoral process was beyond any shadow of a doubt sabotaged by those in power. And since the system itself is now corrupted there may be no other alternative but total revolution, a is good! The bad is getting worse, state of consciousness than any but the good is getting better. Evil men are becoming even more demonic. But at the same time average men are waking up. Good people are becoming divine. And in the end they will surely win, for all things are evolving toward perfection in God.

Lack of hope has been the problem only of the short sighted. But their despair is real. And we must deal with it. Everyone must be made aware of the universal fact: Everything has a purpose, even what we call "evil". Jesus said that the weeds in the field would be allowed to grow together, that only at the chosen time would they be separated, and the weeds thrown into the fire.

Universal law requires that evil grow along side good, that control the masses, even this it will prosper until the last. Such is the case today. Evil for war and injustice the youth is indeed prospering. But so movement, which has a higher are numbered."

Regulation Will Assure Milk Quality

California milk drinkers, which includes just about everybody today, can be assured of an extra measure of quality and safety as a result of a new regulation adopted by the State Department of Agriculture.

Beginning next year, all milk products sold in food markets must be shipped and stored at temperatures no higher than 45 degrees. The new regulation, which does not affect restaurants or home delivery service, will go into effect in one year to allow stores to make changes to their refrigeration equipment.

Previously, milk could be shipped and stored at 50 degrees. But, explains R.L. Van Buren, Chief of the Department's Bureau of Dairy Service, a good percentage of milk and milk products is already being stored at 40 degrees or less, and few stores, shippers, and processors will have any difficulty in meeting the new requirement.

Van Buren added that there is more good news for users of dairy products. Beginning early next year, milk and milk product containers will contain a clearly readable, uncoded date so that shoppers can determine for themselves the freshness of the product. This came about because of increasing concern by consumers and the Legislature for such action.

WE OFFER THREE TYPES OF GROUND BEEF...

To meet differences in taste, preference and use, Safeway now offers 3 types.

TYPE FAT CONTENT OBJECTIVE APPROXIMATE RANGE

Regular Ground Beef . . . 25% to 27%
Lean Ground Beef . . . 19% to 21%
Super Lean Ground Beef 13% to 15%

For example, a one-pound package of regular ground beef would contain approximately 11.7 to 12 ounces of lean meat while a one-pound package of super lean ground beef would contain approximately 13.6 to 14 ounces of lean meat. Subject to preferences of taste, buy only as lean as you really need.

The former use of the names "Ground Sirloin," "Ground Round," and "Ground Chuck" was never intended to mean that the particular cut referred to was the only source of the ground beef sold under that name.

All of our ground beef is prepared with close attention and guaranteed to assure excellent quality. However, even with the most modern equipment and technology now available, it is not yet possible to guarantee that each package will fall within the fat content objective.

ALL OF OUR GROUND BEEF CARRIES THE FAMOUS SAFEWAY GUARANTEE.

It MUST please you or we will promptly refund your money.

Items and prices in this ad are available from November 8, through November 14, 1972 at the Safeway Stores listed below:
